

ROYALLA HARD ROCK QUARRY PROPOSAL

SAY NO

OVERVIEW

- Monaro Mix (NSW) and Pacific Formwork Pty Limited (ACT) have proposed a joint venture to build a hard rock quarry in Royalla.
- This quarry will be located within:
 - 2km's of New South Wales homes
 - 5kms of ACT homes
 - E3 Environmental Management zone with already identified critically endangered and declining Flora and Fauna species (see Environmental Study).
- Existing quarries in the region:
 - already contributing to ground tremors and air pollution due to blasting
 - have existing material deposits estimated to last at least 70 years.
 - are NOT operating at full capacity (operating at 50% per their own reports).

This quarry is expected to generate just 20 jobs, which is negligible compared to the wildlife it will kill or displace and the social and financial impacts on the some 37,000 residents in the immediate area (not including the southern ACT suburbs in the impact zone).
